Each year-end issue of Trademark Insider includes standard industry coverage and rankings, as well as the announcement of the annual Trademark Insider Awards, which recognize the outstanding achievements of the top United States trademark law firms and individual attorneys.

ADDM&G background: Herb Allen came to Orlando in 1972, after gaining significant experience as patent counsel for RCA Corporation and joined two other patent attorneys. Bob Dyer joined the firm in 1980 and brought with him a wealth of knowledge in business litigation. Ava Doppelt joined the firm in 1983 and added her expertise in trademarks, copyrights and related litigation after having served as intellectual property counsel for The Reader's Digest Association. In 1990, Steve Milbrath and Brian Gilchrist added their considerable experience in business litigation to the group. In 1995, Chris Regan joined the practice and developed a sophisticated electrical and electronic patent prosecution practice. Several other attorneys have joined the firm since, as partners and associates, bringing with them a number of large, multinational corporate clients that require intellectual property protection on a world-wide basis. ADDM&G counts on its licensed professionals including attorneys and patent agents to accomplish these objectives.
